Dating Advice for Aries

Romance and dating can be difficult no matter when you were born or what sign of the zodiac you are. It's a good thing you can consult the zodiac and consider your astrological quirks and romantic tendencies, can improve your dating game tenfold and lead to the relationship you truly desire. Whether you're looking for a soulmate or a hot make-out session, use this guide to realize your romantic potential and start getting what you want in your love life.

Oh, adventurous Aries, what a fun date you can be! Your zodiac sign is the master of adventure, risk, and spontaneity and thus, you tend to plan (or not plan...) some really awesome dates. That said, here's the catch, and here's where you could use a little romantic guidance... If you want to impress your date or turn a crush into a soulmate and a loving relationship, go the extra mile to make sure you're really reliable, taking care of the little things, and being ultra-communicative with your partner in crime. Not everyone loves surprises, and sometimes a little planning can go a long way. Let your sweetie know what they're getting themselves into before the date and be sure to follow up after with some thoughtful words. If you can follow this advice, you'll be sure to get that second date you're hoping for and possibly a healthy relationship for the long term.

Have the Relationship You Want, Aries

When it comes to love and romance, we have to know how to play the game just right, and that means we need to know what we are looking for in a romantic relationship, rather than settling for someone or something we really don't want. How much grief could be avoided if we simply tapped into our real needs and desires, and stopped trying to mold or change ourselves to fit someone else's expectations? And how much happier would our prospective and current partners be, if they knew exactly what to expect from us, and what makes us happy?

Sometimes we don't even really know what we want, until we know a little more about ourselves, and our Astrology Sign can give us a great deal of really useful information when it comes to relationships. Are we more about the chase, or looking for security? Do we run from commitment or lean into it comfortably? Is a mental connection more important or an emotional one? These and many more questions and relationship advice can be answered by simply reading on to find out how to get the relationship that we really, really want according to our zodiac personality.

Make no mistake, Aries, you are a firebrand, and when you want someone, they will know about it. As the first sign of the zodiac, you are highly aware of your own needs and desires when it comes to love, and you'll not be shy about expressing them. Compromise? Mediation? Sharing? All foreign concepts to you, but you make up for it by treating each and every person like your absolute soulmate and carrying their flame until the bitter end. You're a fighter, Aries, and it takes a lot for someone to push you away. Watch for that over-sensitivity to rejection, being a little too self-centered and self-absorption becoming a hindrance to true, long-lasting love.

How to Make a Long-Distance Relationship Work

If you've ever experienced a long-distance relationship, you'll know that it can either make or break you as a couple. Certain signs are more capable of loving and communicating from a distance than others. Here are some tips from the zodiac on how to keep your long-distance lover engaged and happy.

Since you're always up for a challenge, Aries, being a part of a passionate, romantic long-distance love affair appeals to you. It allows you the opportunity to compete for your lover's attention, and you'll pull out all the stops in order to keep your sweetheart engaged. Being apart from your partner will keep things fresh and exciting when you do come together, which is exactly what you desire. Propelled by the fire in your heart, your temper can test even the most patient lover, especially if you're far away, so to make it work you'll need to tame that flaming spirit a little.

Why Aries Falls in Love

It's human nature to relish in that tingling, heart-warming feeling of falling in love; but, did you know that your zodiac sign can greatly influence compatibility and who you fall in love with and what qualities you are most attracted to? Astrology can help you in your quest to find the perfect partner and to have a deeper understanding of why you fall in love.

Bold and brave Aries, you don't beat around the bush when it comes to love. All you need to sway your heart is a heap of flaming passion and a partner willing to release all boundaries and bare his or her soul. You're not one for romantic gestures and whispering of sweet nothings so your ideal soulmate is someone who will welcome your not-so-subtle ways. Aries tend to fall for lovers who balance out their sometimes-irrational impulsiveness while at the same time do not totally dampen their fiery passion. Aries, you crave some tender loving care and a love match who brings out your gentle side.

What Does a Healthy Relationship Look Like According to Aries?

We all have different ways of showing our love. Some prefer to shower their lovers with affection and gifts, and others express their love through acts of service and whispering sweet nothings. Whatever your style, Astrology can help. Find out how your zodiac sign affects your love, compatibility, and romantic behavior.

Aries, you're happiest when you're the one in control of your relationship. Your zodiac sign does best when your competitive, energetic nature is allowed the freedom to reign. You tend to show your love mostly through physical affection or play-fighting. You are not one to slouch on a couch, so the healthiest relationship for you is with a partner who embraces that adventurous spirit and is content to go along with your impulsiveness. Aries, you're a curious and passionate fire sign, you're committed to keeping the intensity buzzing with your lover too.

Spice Up Your Love Life: Tips for Aries

Whether you're at the beginning stages of a romance or in a committed relationship, dating can be fraught with awkward and frustrating experiences. Passion is a fickle flame, one that requires attention and devotion for its survival. Astrology can assist in navigating these difficult moments. By learning more about your Sun sign, you gain insight into what makes you tick, what excites and thrills you, and what emboldens your flirtations. Knowing your partner's zodiac sign, whether it's a crush or your soulmate, gives you an advantage in understanding how they express love and how they want to receive it. Knowing what you both want is the key to compatibility. The zodiac is the ultimate matchmaker, as it harmonizes the traits and personalities of 12 unique energies. Find ways to spice up your love life that are specific to you through this advice.

As an active, ambitious, and self-assured individual, you're a force to be reckoned with. Ruled by the courageous planet Mars, you pride yourself in your ability to chase and get what (and who) you want. While you're assertive and extroverted in your declarations of love, you struggle with maintaining the heat of your passion. For an Aries personality, compatibility is linked with energy and inspiration. Go on an exciting adventure with your crush to bond over the thrill of unfamiliarity or take a dance class with your partner. Be your bold and daring self when it comes to planning dates. Anything that activates your competitive and energetic nature is likely to invigorate your relationship.

Surprising Zodiac Sex Secrets for Aries

Oooh la la, now here's a juicy subject we all love! Delicious, scrumptious, sensual, sexy sex! And if your bedroom bonking is none of these things, then you may need to re-think your sexual strategy! Sex should not be boring, tiring, painful or yawn worthy. If it is, perhaps it's time to turn to astrology to help you make it juicer and sweeter....

The stars can be darn useful in helping us navigate our nature, personality traits, likes, dislikes, and even how we like to be kissed. And, astrology can inform us about what kinda sex we go for, whether it's down and dirty, rough and tumble, or soft and sweet. After all, knowledge is power, and all of us could do with a little extra sexual prowess. And wouldn't it be nice to be able to confidently tell your lovers exactly where to go and what to do rather than lying around wondering what the Queen had for lunch while bae is frantically trying to locate your sweet spot? Thought so. Without further ado, let us proceed to explore the nuances and intricacies of our sexual style and preferences according to your zodiac sign.

The truth is, whoever is between the sheets (or up the mountain, in the car, on kitchen table or in the shower) with you, is going to have the ride of their lives. The only requirement is that they keep up, and make sure the engine hot and revved, because you're definitely coming back for seconds, and thirds, and fourths. Your zodiac sign, ruled by sex god Mars, is known for your endless libido and spontaneous, hot, sweaty sexual style. Poor bae has no idea, do they? They're probably hiding in the cupboard, dressing in the dark and hoping you don't set eyes on their luscious naked bods in case you pounce on them for the 15th time today. Maybe you should give them a few moments. Maybe a day. After that, they must know to be available for your lusty needs – rejection only makes you want them more. Also, do they do handstand sex? That could be a deal breaker if they're not up for it. You've always wanted to try that one. Sorry, not sorry!

How do you Know Your Relationship is Over, Aries?

Do you find yourself wondering why your relationship seems to be such hard work or why perhaps the long-term romance is lost? Maybe you can't even remember the first romantic gestures or emotions of the early times with your lover?

Sometimes, you can be so immersed in the intricacies of your love that you can easily miss the signs of a toxic bond. Similarly, your zodiac sign can greatly influence your behavior and tolerance in a love relationship. Astrology can help explain the emotionally charged feelings within a relationship and our love life in general.

Always ready to do what it takes to succeed, Aries, you know you're in a toxic relationship when you find yourself doing far too much hard work to make your partner happy. Your zodiac sign hates to lose – at anything – so knowing when to admit defeat in a toxic love affair can be difficult for you, but if you find you've lost sight of yourself and your own needs, then it's time to call it quits. Aries has a tendency to easily become unbalanced that can allow a lover to take advantage, and when you realize this, it will shake you to your core. You most likely will simply shut out the offending partner until it's too late to salvage the relationship.

How to Get Over a Relationship, Aries

Breakups are the worst, whether it's your first or your 20th. Even though you think you've got the whole thing figured out after your 20th time, post-breakup there's always something new that arises, whether it's anger, regret, or longing – sometimes all three, altogether.

It's hella hard to move on, even if you've eaten gallons of Ben & Jerry's and binged on Netflix until it comes out of your ears. Perhaps eating ice cream and watching a series is not the best solace for you to get over someone. Perhaps you need something else, but don't know anything else but this "formula". Some people bounce back after a new hairdo, some don't. Some quickly get under someone else or jump headfirst into a new long-term relationship. Others are into ghosting or the flip side of that is online stalking whilst the rest of us have to first grieve and mourn. Who's to say what works?

The zodiac, that's who. Knowing our astrology sign gives us a serious edge when it comes to one of the most stressful life events we can go through, a bad breakup, or not. If we have a list, specifically made for us, we can religiously turn to it, whether we've been blindsided or decided we've had enough.

Read on to explore three tips to bounce back and get ready to open your heart for love and affection again according to your zodiac sign.

They didn't know what they had, Aries, and you have fought long and hard for too long already. Luckily, your zodiac sign moves on fast, and in the meantime, here are three useful tips to moving onward and upwards:

1. Go back to gym/climbing/running/skydiving. Seriously – you love working out, and when it happens over a breakup, along with the crazy weight-loss that always comes with the end, you'll be so hot and toned, and totally ready for your next fun-loving conquest in no time at all!
2. Remind yourself how awesome you are. You really are, Aries. You're brave, strong, and sexy, don't forget that!
3. Be patient. You will get over this, in like, a week, tops. It hurts now, but it's a quick hurt that will soon pass and remember to be flirtatious!

Dating Advice for Taurus

Romance and dating can be difficult no matter when you were born or what sign of the zodiac you are. It's a good thing you can consult the zodiac and consider your astrological quirks and romantic tendencies, can improve your dating game tenfold and lead to the relationship you truly desire. Whether you're looking for a soulmate or a hot make-out session, use this guide to realize your romantic potential and start getting what you want in your love life.

Taurus – you can be so sweet, sensuous, and romantic. With Venus, the planet of love and beauty, as your planetary ruler, you sure know how to capture a crush. At the same time, your zodiac sign can get a little stuck in your ways... Bulls are known to be stubborn, and a good date must include an equal amount of flexibility and compromise. Start with the essentials – good food and a beautiful location, and then leave room for the rest to unfold. Ask your date what they like, listen, and let loose a little. Sometimes stepping outside of your comfort zone can lead to the most unexpected and sexy of times. If you can ease into the flow of your romantic evening and let your date take the lead, you might be surprised by the fun you never knew you could have which will, in turn, lead to the healthy relationship you're seeking.

Have the Relationship You Want, Taurus

When it comes to love and romance, we have to know how to play the game just right, and that means we need to know what we are looking for in a romantic relationship, rather than settling for someone or something we really don't want. How much grief could be avoided if we simply tapped into our real needs and desires, and stopped trying to mold or change ourselves to fit someone else's expectations? These and many more questions and relationship advice can be answered by simply reading on to find out how to get the relationship that we really, really want according to our zodiac personality.

You were born to love and be loved, Taurus. Words that scare most people, such as commitment, marriage, and long-term relationship are the peanut butter to your jam, and you absolutely revel in the security and stability of long-lasting love. True, it takes time for your zodiac sign to really open up and allow change to come in the form of a relationship, and although you're a deadly flirt, the right person will have to be persistent and patient to get to your stubborn little heart. Once given, it's theirs forever and you'll spend the rest of your materially luxurious lives watching reruns of your favorite shows whilst super-cuddling.

How to Make a Long-Distance Relationship Work

If you've ever experienced a long-distance relationship, you'll know that it can either make or break you as a couple. Certain signs are more capable of loving and communicating from a distance than others. Here are some tips from the zodiac on how to keep your long-distance lover engaged and happy.

In a long-distance relationship, Taurus, you are willing to put in the work it takes to make it succeed. Your innate strength of spirit means you're not one to shy away from difficult situations. If you're in a good space, your calm, stable nature will help you deal with the uncertainties that come with long-distance love. However, you're a sensual soul, and you crave physical affection to feel loved, so you will have to find other ways to meet your physical needs. Scheduling regular connection sessions, preferably via video chats, will help you feel more secure and appease your sometimes possessive spirit.

Why Taurus Falls in Love

It's human nature to relish in that tingling, heart-warming feeling of falling in love; but, did you know that your zodiac sign can greatly influence compatibility and who you fall in love with and what qualities you are most attracted to? Astrology can help you in your quest to find the perfect partner and to have a deeper understanding of why you fall in love.

You, Taurus will fall for a compatible partner who wines and dines you – your zodiac sign is all about romance and roses. Your personality is slow and steady, but definitely not boring, you are a sexy and sensual member of the zodiac. Rooted to the earth, you yearn for a partner who will bring a little more spontaneity and lightness to your life. You seek a crush who will inspire you to step out of your comfort zone and view your relationship for the long haul. You are easily hurt and slow to forgive, so you are best matched with a partner who is loyal and tender with your heart. You gain comfort from the predictability of relationships but still desire a mate who will add some spice to your twosome.

We all have different ways of showing our love. Some prefer to shower their lovers with affection and gifts, and others express their love through acts of service and whispering sweet nothings. Whatever your style, Astrology can help. Find out how your zodiac sign affects your love, compatibility, and romantic behavior.

There's one word that expertly defines you, Taurus, and that's sensual. You adore indulging yourself in the luxuries of life and like to slowly savor the pleasures of your relationship too. According to Astrology, your zodiac sign is happiest with a partner who lets you languor and takes the time to delight in the senses as you do. You especially love to wine and dine your sweetheart. Slow and steady in most things, you're adept at keeping things hot and spicy in the bedroom too. Conversely, you're a practical soul and you're good at making things work. You appreciate a relationship in which each partner puts in equal effort. You notice the small stuff and you expect your partner to appreciate those little things too.

Spice Up Your Love Life: Tips for Taurus

Find ways to spice up your love life that are specific to you through this advice.

As a Taurus, you're an indulgent, patient, and sensuous lover. While sometimes lazy and hedonistic, these qualities of your personality can be expressed in a healthy and romantic manner. Whether it's cozying up with some popcorn to binge-watch Netflix or eating out at a restaurant with delicious food, you're someone who wants to share the physical pleasures of life with your loved ones. Perhaps your desire for convention makes you a bit traditional, but that doesn't mean you're not up for new experiences. Try taking an intimate staycation with your partner or book a spa day for two. Spicing up your dating life can be as literal as adding a dash of heat to your favorite dish.

Are they ready for heaven? Does your love even know that they've hit the sexual jackpot? Tell them to do themselves a favor and throw a social media poll out there for the best zodiac sign to have sex with is. It's you, Taurus. It will always be you. Your sensual, sexy deliciousness is a slow-burning fire, and boy, does it burn hot. Luscious and slow, you take your sweet time with your lover, stroking each and every part of their body, smelling, touching and tasting. You're not shy about your primality – in fact, you indulge it wholly and completely, to the point where a less body-comfortable babe might feel as if they've landed up in bed with a bit of an animal – in the very best sense. They'll just have to be okay with all the sniffing and licking. Perhaps they may even like it. Perhaps they'll return the favor, and perhaps – just perhaps – you'll get to do that really nasty thing that you've always fantasized about.

How do you Know Your Relationship is Over, Taurus?

Do you find yourself wondering why your relationship seems to be such hard work or why perhaps the long-term romance is lost? Similarly, your zodiac sign can greatly influence your behavior and tolerance in a love relationship. Astrology can help explain the emotionally charged feelings within a relationship and our love life in general.

When you're dissatisfied in a relationship, Taurus, it brings out the gloomy and malicious side of your personality. You're especially put off by self-centeredness in a lover, and you'll immediately shut your partner out if this occurs. Your zodiac sign's overly cautious nature makes you particularly fearful of commitment which can cause your partner to become suspicious of your intentions. When you're in a vicious cycle of negativity, you may become short-tempered and possessive. As your focus is on outward appearances; however, you'll still put on a show of being "happy" but, ultimately, Taurus, once it's over in your heart, there's not much your partner can do to change your mind.

It's rare for any relationship to end for you, Taurus, since you hate change, no matter how mean bae has been to you. However, if the improbable has come to an end, your greatest strength is going to be your patience to see the process through. In the meantime, here are some great tips to help you find your next romance:

1. Eat. Lots. Food is your new girlfriend/boyfriend, Taurus, so indulge yourself. You'll find a lot of comfort in a (beef or veggie) cheesy lasagna or the proverbial tub of ice cream.
2. Go shopping. Nothing says joy to you as much as retail therapy, Taurus, so go out there and get yourself that snazzy new wardrobe. Haters gonna hate, so don't hold back!
3. Watch loads of Netflix. Lose yourself in a marathon binge of reruns of The Big Bang Theory, and watch time slip by.

Dating Advice for Gemini

Romance and dating can be difficult no matter when you were born or what sign of the zodiac you are. It's a good thing you can consult the zodiac and consider your astrological quirks and romantic tendencies, can improve your dating game tenfold and lead to the relationship you truly desire. Whether you're looking for a soulmate or a hot make-out session, use this guide to realize your romantic potential and start getting what you want in your love life.

You are the whiz of the zodiac when it comes to dating, Gemini. As an expert at flirting, a clever conversationalist, and a curious companion, you've pretty much got this whole dating thing down, right?! Well...yes, but we all have a few things we can practice when it comes to intimacy, romance and relationships. For you clever Air sign Gemini, it's time to start speaking your truth and this means really listening to your body and your heart, not just your mind. Sometimes it can be so easy for you to get what you think you want that you don't stop to consider whether it's truly what you want. Now's the time to check in with yourself and with your datebook to see who needs to go and who needs to stay. Pick lovers that truly make your heart sing—people you want to go on a second, third, and fourth date with. These are the crushes that have the most to teach you, and the sweeties who will lead the way to your deepest longings, desires, and truths.

Sometimes we don't even really know what we want until we know a little more about ourselves, and our Astrology Sign can give us a great deal of really useful information when it comes to relationships. Are we more about the chase, or looking for security? Do we run from commitment or lean into it comfortably? Is a mental connection more important or an emotional one? These and many more questions and relationship advice can be answered by simply reading on to find out how to get the relationship that we really, really want according to our zodiac personality -

For you, Gemini, the C-word (yes, that means commitment) is not your best friend when it comes to love and romance. Your zodiac sign likes variety, which means plenty of dating, uncounted hook-ups, and barrels of fun. Open relationships? Yes please? Three-ways? Any time. Flexibility and keeping things "casual" – this is gold for you. Boring people bore you, and complex, clever characters intrigue you. Yup, you like the crazy ones, because they're the only people who can entertain you for longer than a couple of weeks. Be sensitive to those who need a little more reliability, Gemini, and realize that your flighty, free-spirited spontaneity may be seen as fickle.

How to Make a Long-Distance Relationship Work

If you've ever experienced a long-distance relationship, you'll know that it can either make or break you as a couple. Certain signs are more capable of loving and communicating from a distance than others. Here are some tips from the zodiac on how to keep your long-distance lover engaged and happy.

Communication is especially important in a long-distance relationship and luckily for you, Gemini, this is where you shine. Your sharp, analytical mind will enable you to get to the root of any problems that may arise, and your natural charm and need to share everything will keep you emotionally close to your lover. You may struggle with the physical loneliness of faraway love. You also need a partner who is equally self-confident and light of heart and who will make time to communicate with you regularly. Watch out – feeling insecure in your relationship may bring out your naughty twin side.

Why Gemini Falls in Love

It's human nature to relish in that tingling, heart-warming feeling of falling in love; but, did you know that your zodiac sign can greatly influence compatibility and who you fall in love with and what qualities you are most attracted to? Astrology can help you in your quest to find the perfect partner and to have a deeper understanding of why you fall in love.

Vibrant and clever Gemini, you love to fall in love with love; but sometimes you struggle to take your relationship to the next level. Your zodiac sign desires a love match who accepts your need for independence and lets you move slowly. You're most compatible with a lover who understands your contrasting nature coupled with your need to please, which can come across as inauthentic to some. Once you do decide to take that final step and open your heart, there's no stopping the expanse of your love and dedication. You aren't afraid to determine your own unique style of relationship and are willing to push the boundaries in bed, bouncing between playing the leading role and being a docile participant.

What Does a Healthy Relationship Look Like According to Gemini?

We all have different ways of showing our love. Some prefer to shower their lovers with affection and gifts, and others express their love through acts of service and whispering sweet nothings. Whatever your style, Astrology can help. Find out how your zodiac sign affects your love, compatibility, and romantic behavior.

Since Geminis are the gurus of communication, you're not one to endure cold shoulders and passive-aggressive behavior for very long. Your zodiac air sign is happiest in a relationship with a partner who is willing and able to communicate on your level and who doesn't shy away from healthy confrontation. Your zodiac sign's honesty is your greatest gift in love – but you need a lover who reciprocates. You demonstrate your love by sharing about anything and everything and that's what makes you feel intimate and connected. A good Gemini relationship is jam-packed with cozy chats and fresh, fun dates; and you particularly love to plan activities – anything bright and bustling.

Spice Up Your Love Life: Tips for Gemini

Whether you're at the beginning stages of a romance or in a committed relationship, dating can be fraught with awkward and frustrating experiences. Passion is a fickle flame, one that requires attention and devotion for its survival. Astrology can assist in navigating these difficult moments. By learning more about your Sun sign, you gain insight into what makes you tick, what excites and thrills you, and what emboldens your flirtations. Knowing your partner's zodiac sign, whether it's a crush or your soulmate, gives you an advantage in understanding how they express love and how they want to receive it. Knowing what you both want is the key to compatibility. The zodiac is the ultimate matchmaker, as it harmonizes the traits and personalities of 12 unique energies. Find ways to spice up your love life that are specific to you through this advice.

Clever, intellectual, and versatile are just some of your Gemini personality traits. In romance, you're likely to pick lovers who are dynamic communicators. When you find someone who can keep up with your curious and sociable nature, it's a perfect match. While prone to mischief and agitated nerves, you make up for your volatility with your flexible and lively nature. You need to be stimulated in your relationship, whether that means discussing the movies and shows you watch with your partner, visiting art museums, or even learning a new language together. As the thinker of the zodiac, any cerebral activity that encourages the dexterity of your mind is likely to sustain passion in your relationship.

Surprising Zodiac Sex Secrets for Gemini

Oooh la la, now here's a juicy subject we all love! Delicious, scrumptious, sensual, sexy sex! And if your bedroom bonking is none of these things, then you may need to re-think your sexual strategy! Sex should not be boring, tiring, painful, or yawn worthy. If it is, perhaps it's time to turn to astrology to help you make it juicier and sweeter....

The stars can be darn useful in helping us navigate our nature, personality traits, likes, dislikes, and even how we like to be kissed. And, astrology can inform us about what kinda sex we go for, whether it's down and dirty, rough and tumble, or soft and sweet. After all, knowledge is power, and all of us could do with a little extra sexual prowess. And wouldn't it be nice to be able to confidently tell your lovers exactly where to go and what to do rather than lying around wondering what the Queen had for lunch while your bae is frantically trying to locate your sweet spot? Thought so. Without further ado, let us proceed to explore the nuances and intricacies of our sexual style and preferences according to your zodiac sign.

Bae better be ready for some serious experimentation. Boring sex is a no-go for your zodiac sign, and it doesn't matter if it feels good – as long as it's different and you can talk at the same time. The whole silk scarf in the mouth thing won't work for you – you need to chatter away while your bodies are doing what they do, and the dirtier the talk, the better. In fact, the whole sexual experience, in your opinion, is about the mind, from that first sexy text, that first flirty message, to the actual meetup. Then, you have a conversation with all these naughty innuendos, turn each other's minds on, and your body automatically follows. The next thing you know, you and your lover are saying all kinds of nasty things that your momma would wash your mouth out for, but who cares? The more outrageous they are, the better it is for you...and if your lover can't bring themselves to be a little cray cray, well, then you may wave them bye-bye!

How do you Know Your Relationship is Over, Gemini?

Do you find yourself wondering why your relationship seems to be such hard work or why perhaps the long-term romance is lost? Maybe you can't even remember the first romantic gestures or emotions of the early times with your lover?

Sometimes, you can be so immersed in the intricacies of your love that you can easily miss the signs of a toxic bond. Similarly, your zodiac sign can greatly influence your behavior and tolerance in a love relationship. Astrology can help explain the emotionally charged feelings within a relationship and our love life in general.

Your disproportionate desire to be constantly thrilled by life, Gemini, can lead to unwarranted dissatisfaction in your relationship. You are so easily bored and will blame your partner if things become dull. Even when you are completely committed to your sweetheart you enjoy a good flirt session, but when you are dissatisfied, you amplify the flirting to another level, which will quickly send your relationship into a dysfunctional downward spiral, especially if your lover is overly jealous. Gemini, your zodiac sign loves to verbally share with the one you love, so if you stop communicating, it's a good sign that things are going downhill.

How to Get Over a Relationship, Gemini

Breakups are the worst, whether it's your first or your 20th. Even though you think you've got the whole thing figured out after your 20th time, post-breakup there's always something new that arises, whether it's anger, regret, or longing – sometimes all three, altogether.

It's hella hard to move on, even if you've eaten gallons of Ben & Jerry's and binged on Netflix until it comes out of your ears. Perhaps eating ice cream and watching a series is not the best solace for you to get over someone. Perhaps you need something else, but don't know anything else but this "formula". Some people bounce back after a new hairdo, some don't. Some quickly get under someone else or jump headfirst into a new long-term relationship. Others are into ghosting or the flip side of that is online stalking whilst the rest of us have to first grieve and mourn. Who's to say what works?

The zodiac, that's who. Knowing our astrology sign gives us a serious edge when it comes to one of the most stressful life events we can go through, a bad breakup, or not. If we have a list, specifically made for us, we can religiously turn to it, whether we've been blindsided or decided we've had enough.

Read on to explore three tips to bounce back and get ready to open your heart for love and affection again according to your zodiac sign.

You couldn't make the choice, could you, Gemini? Or you did and it backfired? Your zodiac sign does tend to get a bit picky and fickle, and even though you'll find someone else in no time, here are a few tips to help you get there:

1. Get onto Tinder, pronto. There's nothing like a good text flirt to set things right in your dating world again. Flattering texts? Yes, please!
2. Read loads of articles on how to get over a relationship. Information is power in a Gemini world, and the more you know, the quicker you'll feel better.
3. Talk about it. Get closure and understand why it ended – it'll help you move on faster, as much as it may hurt to hear.

Dating Advice for Cancer

Romance and dating can be difficult no matter when you were born or what sign of the zodiac you are. It's a good thing you can consult the zodiac and consider your astrological quirks and romantic tendencies, can improve your dating game tenfold and lead to the relationship you truly desire. Whether you're looking for a soulmate or a hot make-out session, use this guide to realize your romantic potential and start getting what you want in your love life.

Dating can be difficult for you fragile, Water sign Cancer. Sometimes it can be exhausting to go on date after date with people who may not even care about you, or care to draw you out of your shell. Go easy on yourself and on your crushes. It may be helpful to remember to slow it down, and that you need not disclose all your deepest emotional truths on the first date to remain emotionally available. There is a balance to be found here, so have faith. Try to lighten up a bit and let your great sense of humor lead the way. If you can remember that you don't owe anyone anything, in time, you'll begin to see who is worth showering in love, attention, and care and who might not be. If you can retain a strong sense of self-empowerment and self-love, your dating life and overall relationships will be sure to flourish.

Have the Relationship You Want, Cancer

When it comes to love and romance, we have to know how to play the game just right, and that means we need to know what we are looking for in a romantic relationship, rather than settling for someone or something we really don't want. How much grief could be avoided if we simply tapped into our real needs and desires, and stopped trying to mold or change ourselves to fit someone else's expectations? And how much happier would our prospective and current partners be, if they knew exactly what to expect from us, and what makes us happy?

Sometimes we don't even really know what we want, until we know a little more about ourselves, and our Astrology Sign can give us a great deal of really useful information when it comes to relationships. Are we more about the chase, or looking for security? Do we run from commitment or lean into it comfortably? Is a mental connection more important or an emotional one? These and many more questions and relationship advice can be answered by simply reading on to find out how to get the relationship that we really, really want according to our zodiac personality -

Oh, Cancer. Love is the food of your soul and there's nothing your zodiac sign adores more than a deep, delicious, spiritual connection with a soulmate. Sure, it takes time to get to your tender heart - you've been hurt more times than you can count, yet you still open up like a flower in full bloom when there's a real opportunity for true love and romance. Flirting is nice, sure, but what you need is a soulful and meaningful relationship - forever and ever. Babies, marriage, homemaking – all music to your finely tuned ears. Beware projecting imagined hurt onto your lover that has only happened in your mind, and don't allow that feeling of inner fear of abandonment to cause you to become clingy.

How to Make a Long-Distance Relationship Work

If you've ever experienced a long-distance relationship, you'll know that it can either make or break you as a couple. Certain signs are more capable of loving and communicating from a distance than others. Here are some tips from the zodiac on how to keep your long-distance lover engaged and happy.

Your craving for loving, stability, and comfort means you may struggle in a long-distance relationship, Cancer; however, if you have a partner who is nevertheless able to deliver that sense of security you so desire, you can make it work. You need a lover who welcomes your big feelings that sometimes defy logic. As long as your intense emotional needs are met, your relationship can blossom. Luckily, you are a super-sensitive soul that enables you to empathize with your partner's needs as well as your own, which is essential in long-distance love affairs.

Why Cancer Falls in Love

It's human nature to relish in that tingling, heart-warming feeling of falling in love; but, did you know that your zodiac sign can greatly influence compatibility and who you fall in love with and what qualities you are most attracted to? Astrology can help you in your quest to find the perfect partner and to have a deeper understanding of why you fall in love.

What your zodiac sign seeks above all else in a relationship is emotional security. Comfort is at the top of a Cancer's wish list, and you derive great pleasure from creating a soothing love nest for yourself and your beloved. Typical of your crab-like nature, you tend to hide your true emotions and feelings and build barriers to love, so you are best suited to a relationship with a partner who has the patience to get under your shell. In return, Cancer, you are one of the most caring of the zodiac signs and an expert listener. You are easily hurt, so you are most compatible with signs who possess sensitivity and tact. You don't commit easily and struggle with intimacy, but once you truly give another your heart, you are theirs forever.

Whatever your style, Astrology can help. Find out how your zodiac sign affects your love, compatibility, and romantic behavior.

Cancer, your water sign empathy is your ultimate strength in a healthy zodiac match. When you're satisfied in a relationship, it brings out your inherently caring and nurturing traits, and you'll go the extra mile to look after the one you love. Your zodiac sign shows a partner how much you care by whipping up something delicious in the kitchen, made with an extra dash of love. You're most content with a lover who appreciates your constant support and gentle affection – and someone who remembers to thank you for that love. You like to share the load of life's worries with your partner and tend to take on your lover's emotions too.

The moon sways the tides of your heart, making you sensitive, imaginative, and conscientious of your lover's emotions. Since you have a tendency to sulk in your moodiness, your Cancer Sun prefers a compatible match who understands your feelings. Your relationships thrive in domesticity, as you appreciate the romance of a home-cooked meal. Simply spending quality time with your partner is a joy, so it's important to find activities that reflect this. It could mean working collaboratively on DIY projects to beautify your home, taking regular trips to the ocean or bodies of water, or going on long walks in the evenings. Anything that cultivates closeness with your partner will satisfy your desire for a genuine connection.

For your sensitive zodiac sign, sex is paramount to babies and snuggling. Whatever happens between is all very well – sweet, sensual, tender, and all that, but it's really the snuggling you look forward to, and the possibility of a mini-you running around and calling you mama or dada. That's just how it is for you crabs, and bae better be stocking up on protection if they don't wanna be having a bun in the oven. In the process of making babies, you can be as kinky as anyone else, and you love to please your lover, just as long as it's reciprocated. And beware if you're not in the mood – hell ain't' hath no fury like a Cancer forced to have nooky when they're feeling sad about their pet budgie who died five years ago. Your sweetie better know how to make tea and wait for a better time, because when you're in the mood, you are the sweetest, most spiritual, most connected, and sensual lovemaking machine around.

How do you Know Your Relationship is Over, Cancer?

Do you find yourself wondering why your relationship seems to be such hard work or why perhaps the long-term romance is lost? Maybe you can't even remember the first romantic gestures or emotions of the early times with your lover?

Similarly, your zodiac sign can greatly influence your behavior and tolerance in a love relationship. Astrology can help explain the emotionally charged feelings within a relationship and our love life in general.

Cancer, your natural desire is to protect yourself. When your zodiac sign doesn't feel safe within a relationship you are immediately on the defense, bringing out a side of you that is a little petty and insecure. You will lose interest if you feel your partner is no longer caring for you and meeting your needs, romantic or otherwise. Your conflict style is passive-aggressive rather than confrontational, so you will most likely avoid addressing the real issues unless you're forced to. You loathe shallow connections; therefore, you should leave a relationship that you consider superficial in search of deep and soulful love.

This is probably the worst thing to ever happen, ever. Your zodiac sign doesn't take breakups very well at all, and it can feel like your heart has been cruelly wrenched from its chambers. You'll carry the torch for years, but here are some ways to let go and make space for someone new, eventually:

1. Cry. Just cry, Cancer. They say that salt-water cures all things – your tears, the ocean and sweat. Let those tears fall and release the grief. It'll heal you in the long run.
2. Watch a lot of Grey's Anatomy. This will help the crying.
3. Don't go back. Seriously, just don't – there's nothing there for you and your real soulmate is still out there, promise.

Dating Advice for Leo

Romance and dating can be difficult no matter when you were born or what sign of the zodiac you are. It's a good thing you can consult the zodiac and consider your astrological quirks and romantic tendencies, can improve your dating game tenfold and lead to the relationship you truly desire. Whether you're looking for a soulmate or a hot make-out session, use this guide to realize your romantic potential and start getting what you want in your love life.

Leos can have high expectations when it comes to dating. Although we all want and need love and attention, this can get a little extreme for fierce little zodiac sign lions. Make sure you give what you'd like to receive, both to yourself and to your sweetie. Not everyone will be able to see you in the way you'd like, and that's ok. Let someone go if they can't appreciate your specialness and let that be it – it needn't mean anything about you. Leo, you are a Fire sign after all, so if you can go into your dates and relationships feeling strong, empowered, and realistic about who you are – strengths and weaknesses – then you'll be able to have a lot more clarity about what's really going on between you and your crush and decide where to take it from there.

There is no doubt when you are in love, Leo. Your tail swishes and you radiate sunshine and warmth, purring satisfyingly like a cat that got all the cream. Even though your zodiac sign can play the dating game as well as anyone, you prefer a long-term commitment and are the most loyal sign of all the zodiac. It takes a great deal for your lover to let you down, although when they do, you will wash your hands clean and completely move on, however long that may take. Try not to make it all about you though – this can undo a romance faster than you can blink. Taking time to step outside of your own universe can do wonders for your relationships.

How to Make a Long-Distance Relationship Work

Certain signs are more capable of loving and communicating from a distance than others. Here are some tips from the zodiac on how to keep your long-distance lover engaged and happy.

Since your zodiac sign thrives on attention and adoration, Leo, a long-distance relationship will only work if your partner stays committed to showering you with attentiveness. You are easily hurt if you don't feel the warm glow of loving devotion constantly shining upon you. You do enjoy the melodrama and intrigue that accompanies some long-distance love though; as long as your needs are met and your ego is not bruised in the process, you can have a successful faraway romance. Your love for living life, being creative and enthusiastic will serve to inspire your other half when the loneliness gets too much to bear.

Why Leo Falls in Love

It's human nature to relish in that tingling, heart-warming feeling of falling in love; but, did you know that your zodiac sign can greatly influence compatibility and who you fall in love with and what qualities you are most attracted to? Astrology can help you in your quest to find the perfect partner and to have a deeper understanding of why you fall in love.

The most important thing to you Leo is to feel appreciated and admired in a relationship. You have a generous, forgiving heart that you bravely expose, but only if you feel appreciated and admired in return. Leo loves the ritual of romance and dating and seeks lovers who encourage extravagant gestures and bold acts of romance. You crave a partner who appreciates and honors your innate confidence, dignity, and unwavering loyalty. You have a lusty libido but are not necessarily easily intimate. Your sign doesn't welcome overwhelming and gratuitous affection but prefers a partner who is self-contained and regal.

If you're a Leo in a mutually gratifying relationship, you're most likely bursting with generosity and goodwill towards your sweetheart, and you'll do almost anything to ensure your lover has everything his or her heart desires. Leo, when you start to become possessive over your mate, you know you're falling in love. Your zodiac sign also likes to show love with public displays of affection and treat your partner like royalty. Your happiest love match is with a partner who embraces your natural strength and leadership qualities and who is not put out by you taking the lead.

Spice Up Your Love Life: Tips for Leo

Find ways to spice up your love life that are specific to you through this advice.

As the fabulous lion of the zodiac, your love of drama doesn't go unnoticed in love. You have an authoritative personality, and sometimes people perceive you as conceited or domineering. But your strong feelings reflect your big heart, and your partners are enamored by your flashy expressions of devotion. While the flame of your passion is long-lasting once you're committed, your desire for constant reassurance sometimes hinders your compatibility with others and your ability to enjoy small pleasures. Don't be afraid to let your hair down. Go dancing with your love, flirt with your crush without worrying about what'll happen next, allow yourself to be bad at a new hobby that you and your partner are trying. Your natural charm is what makes your romantic life electric.

Are there mirrors? Good. Your lover must know that they will be getting the sex of a lifetime, a performance to out-perform any previous lovers they have ever had. They'll likely forget they ever had sex with anyone else before you came along and heated things up. And lord help them if they mention their previous experiences. Bae better know, there was really no one before you! Sure, you can be demanding, and you know what you want – and usually, you want a lot of it – but when your fire is stoked, you purr like the big cat you are, the cat who got all the cream (wink wink). Passion is a non-negotiable for you, and rejection cuts you to your very soul. Your lover needs to respond with affection and enthusiasm at your overtures, lest your sexual ego suffers a slow and painful death. There's nothing worse than a Leo neglected or ignored, and there's nothing quite as lovely and warm as a Leo worshipped and adored. They've been warned.

How do you Know Your Relationship is Over, Leo?

Do you find yourself wondering why your relationship seems to be such hard work or why perhaps the long-term romance is lost? Similarly, your zodiac sign can greatly influence your behavior and tolerance in a love relationship. Astrology can help explain the emotionally charged feelings within a relationship and our love life in general.

The flip side of your bold and loving lioness qualities is an aggressive and dismissive Leo; beware any lover who disappoints you, you are quick to lash out when you feel slighted. Also, if you're feeling that your beloved is not giving you the ample attention and praise you deserve, you will quickly become frustrated. Your zodiac sign is not good at hiding your true feelings, so if you're jealous or unhappy your partner and other people will definitely know about it. You love a chance to shine, so a sure sign that all is not well is if you start wanting to stay at home rather than splash your love around town.

Some people bounce back after a new hairdo, some don't. Some quickly get under someone else or jump headfirst into a new long-term relationship. Others are into ghosting or the flip side of that is online stalking whilst the rest of us have to first grieve and mourn. Who's to say what works?

The zodiac, that's who. Knowing our astrology sign gives us a serious edge when it comes to one of the most stressful life events we can go through, a bad breakup, or not. If we have a list, specifically made for us, we can religiously turn to it, whether we've been blindsided or decided we've had enough.

Read on to explore three tips to bounce back and get ready to open your heart for love and affection again according to your zodiac sign.

First of all, it's downright shocking that someone wouldn't want to be with you, Leo. Are they insane? Do they even realize how much love you have to give? It's their loss, anyway. Either way, here are some tips to help your zodiac sign move on:

1. Don't look for affirmation. At least, not from them. You don't need to define your worth based on what someone else thinks of you.
2. Get a new haircut. This will heal you like nothing else – taking care of your mane is the ultimate way to show the world you are totally over it and ready for someone new.
3. Go dancing. Go shake your booty, Leo, preferably on a stage where everyone can see and admire you.

Dating Advice for Virgo

Romance and dating can be difficult no matter when you were born or what sign of the zodiac you are. It's a good thing you can consult the zodiac and consider your astrological quirks and romantic tendencies, can improve your dating game tenfold and lead to the relationship you truly desire. Whether you're looking for a soulmate or a hot make-out session, use this guide to realize your romantic potential and start getting what you want in your love life.

Okay, Virgo, not everyone is perfect, and they shouldn't have to be for you to at least consider going on a date with them. Perhaps it's time to lower your standards just a little and consider what it is that really matters to you in a potential crush or romantic partner. Sometimes it can be fun to go on a date with someone even if you feel like you know it will never work out. You might learn a lot about your Earth sign self and what you want this way. It does seem important that your soulmate be truly willing to look at their life and their traits and habits with honest and growth-oriented eyes, but as long as they are inclined towards self-knowledge and transformation, that's really the best we can do. Save the nit-picking and the constructive criticism, Virgo, for after you get to know the person and have a little more faith in humanity. You might find yourself surprised by someone and what they are capable of.

Have the Relationship You Want, Virgo

When it comes to love and romance, we have to know how to play the game just right, and that means we need to know what we are looking for in a romantic relationship, rather than settling for someone or something we really don't want. How much grief could be avoided if we simply tapped into our real needs and desires, and stopped trying to mold or change ourselves to fit someone else's expectations? And how much happier would our prospective and current partners be, if they knew exactly what to expect from us, and what makes us happy?

Sometimes we don't even really know what we want, until we know a little more about ourselves, and our Astrology Sign can give us a great deal of really useful information when it comes to relationships. Are we more about the chase, or looking for security? Do we run from commitment or lean into it comfortably? Is a mental connection more important or an emotional one? These and many more questions and relationship advice can be answered by simply reading on to find out how to get the relationship that we really, really want according to our zodiac personality –

There's a rumor going around that Virgo is one of those zodiac signs that is reserved and timid in public and wildcats in private. Is that you, Virgo? If so, what a lucky partner! Service and sacrifice are the languages of love in your life, and you'll go out of your way to make your lover feel looked after. In your books, compatibility means a shared desire for security and stability, and being motivated to take care of each other. Sure, you can be critical, which can hurt your partner at times – so you do have to watch that sharp tongue. Yet beneath that judgement lies a heart of the purest gold that simply needs someone to recognize and love it.

How to Make a Long-Distance Relationship Work

If you've ever experienced a long-distance relationship, you'll know that it can either make or break you as a couple. Certain signs are more capable of loving and communicating from a distance than others. Here are some tips from the zodiac on how to keep your long-distance lover engaged and happy.

Unfailingly trustworthy and astonishingly loyal, Virgos are ideal long-distance lovers. Uncertainty in a relationship can bring out your not-very-pretty jealous side, so you need lots of assurance of a lover's commitment in order to trust, especially when you don't see your partner often. You tend to get anxious when plans change and schedules get disrupted, but in a long-distance relationship, you'll need to learn to go with the flow in order to make it succeed. Make use of your bright mind to come up with innovative ways to stay in tune with each other – play games together online, Skype each other while watching your Netflix series, or share a virtual bubble bath.

Why Virgo Falls in Love

It's human nature to relish in that tingling, heart-warming feeling of falling in love; but, did you know that your zodiac sign can greatly influence compatibility and who you fall in love with and what qualities you are most attracted to? Astrology can help you in your quest to find the perfect partner and to have a deeper understanding of why you fall in love.

Virgo, you are picky about whom and how you date and your reserved nature means you'd rather be alone than waste your time on meaningless encounters. Your sign enjoys dates that stimulate the intellect, and you place great value on good manners and integrity. You are attracted to partners who are clean and neat and who are constantly working on their self-development. You are most compatible with an easy-going, gentle lover. You love the anticipation of intimacy and are enticed by a good setup – candles, music, etc. Even though you Virgo may take a long time to open your heart and fall in love, once you do, it is quite spectacular. When you're in love, Virgo, you'll do anything to please your partner.

What Does a Healthy Relationship Look Like According to Virgo?

We all have different ways of showing our love. Some prefer to shower their lovers with affection and gifts, and others express their love through acts of service and whispering sweet nothings. Whatever your style, Astrology can help. Find out how your zodiac sign affects your love, compatibility, and romantic behavior.

Virgo, you need to be needed, so a partner who relishes in your caring, devoted temperament is the answer to a healthy love match. Your zodiac earth sign values the stability of committed love and organizing your life and your love to benefit both you and your lover. According to Astrology, your sign is not the most expressive member of the zodiac when it comes to talking about your emotions, your partner should understand you prefer to convey your love in other ways. You favor thoughtful acts of service to show your support and love. You enjoy making a big deal of anniversaries and birthdays, and nothing will make your heart happier than getting something sentimental for your sweetheart.

Spice Up Your Love Life: Tips for Virgo

Whether you're at the beginning stages of a romance or in a committed relationship, dating can be fraught with awkward and frustrating experiences. Passion is a fickle flame, one that requires attention and devotion for its survival. Astrology can assist in navigating these difficult moments. By learning more about your Sun sign, you gain insight into what makes you tick, what excites and thrills you, and what emboldens your flirtations. Knowing your partner's zodiac sign, whether it's a crush or your soulmate, gives you an advantage in understanding how they express love and how they want to receive it. Knowing what you both want is the key to compatibility. The zodiac is the ultimate matchmaker, as it harmonizes the traits and personalities of 12 unique energies. Find ways to spice up your love life that are specific to you through this advice.

Having a Virgo personality means you're analytical, practical, and precise in everything you do. While your Sun sign gives you an anxious disposition, you thrive when the details of your life are accounted for. Your idea of passion might not fit the stereotypical "head-over-heels" mold, as you're more contained and thoughtful in your romantic endeavors. For you, spicing up your relationship compatibility is all in the details. Whether it looks like asking your partner to help you clean up after a romantic dinner or browsing the aisles of Target to find the perfect color-coordinated stickers for your planner, you need to make sure your life is in order before you allow yourself to be receptive to love.

Surprising Zodiac Sex Secrets for Virgo

Oooh la la, now here's a juicy subject we all love! Delicious, scrumptious, sensual, sexy sex! And if your bedroom bonking is none of these things, then you may need to re-think your sexual strategy! Sex should not be boring, tiring, painful or yawn worthy. If it is, perhaps it's time to turn to astrology to help you make it juicier and sweeter....

The stars can be darn useful in helping us navigate our nature, personality traits, likes, dislikes, and even how we like to be kissed. And, astrology can inform us about what kinda sex we go for, whether it's down and dirty, rough and tumble, or soft and sweet. After all, knowledge is power, and all of us could do with a little extra sexual prowess. And wouldn't it be nice to be able to confidently tell your lovers exactly where to go and what to do rather than lying around wondering what the Queen had for lunch while bae is frantically trying to locate your sweet spot? Thought so. Without further ado, let us proceed to explore the nuances and intricacies of our sexual style and preferences according to your zodiac sign.

People don't actually grasp how sexy you are, Virgo. What you put out to the world is most definitely not what you put out in the bedroom. Did you know that the majority of porn stars are Virgos? It's true. You are a sexpot, but you know to keep it private for you and for whomever you choose to take into your bed. And, as an earth sign, you have the whole sensuality thing going for you, and you're not scared of tapping into your primal side. Yes, you're a bit of an animal and nothing gets you going quite like messy (the only place you allow mess), smelly, sexy, tasty sex. Plus, you have the whole Virgin thing going for you as well, which only makes you that much more appealing. Everyone wants to marry the babe who seems all pure and sweet, but is naughty AF between the sheets – and you've got a brain to boot. You're able to do the nasty and talk philosophy afterward, run errands, clean the house and make sure the fridge is full. Yes, you're a keeper.

How do you Know Your Relationship is Over, Virgo?

Do you find yourself wondering why your relationship seems to be such hard work or why perhaps the long-term romance is lost? Maybe you can't even remember the first romantic gestures or emotions of the early times with your lover?

Sometimes, you can be so immersed in the intricacies of your love that you can easily miss the signs of a toxic bond. Similarly, your zodiac sign can greatly influence your behavior and tolerance in a love relationship. Astrology can help explain the emotionally charged feelings within a relationship and our love life in general.

Being your naturally hyper-critical self towards your lover, Virgo, is in fact a sign of how deep your love flows. You are hardest on those you love the most. If your nit-picking nature gets too much, however, it will push all but the most devoted lovers over the edge. An unhappy Virgo with an unchecked inner critic can quickly send a relationship to its ruin. You value stability and routine more than most other signs so, if things get too busy, or there are too many issues in your relationship, you become easily overwhelmed. You use distraction to deal with discontent. Once you reach this stage, nothing your partner does will please you.

How to Get Over a Relationship, Virgo

Breakups are the worst, whether it's your first or your 20th. Even though you think you've got the whole thing figured out after your 20th time, post-breakup there's always something new that arises, whether it's anger, regret, or longing – sometimes all three, altogether.

It's hella hard to move on, even if you've eaten gallons of Ben & Jerry's and binged on Netflix until it comes out of your ears. Perhaps eating ice cream and watching a series is not the best solace for you to get over someone. Perhaps you need something else, but don't know anything else but this "formula". Some people bounce back after a new hairdo, some don't.

Some quickly get under someone else or jump headfirst into a new long-term relationship. Others are into ghosting or the flip side of that is online stalking whilst the rest of us have to first grieve and mourn. Who's to say what works?

The zodiac, that's who. Knowing our astrology sign gives us a serious edge when it comes to one of the most stressful life events we can go through, a bad breakup, or not. If we have a list, specifically made for us, we can religiously turn to it, whether we've been blindsided or decided we've had enough.

Read on to explore three tips to bounce back and get ready to open your heart for love and affection again according to your zodiac sign.

It's not your fault, Virgo. Breakups are often not personal, so try not to turn inward, no one is perfect. You love a good list, so here are three tips you can add to help you get over a broken heart:

1. Be kind to yourself. Turn that critical voice away and stop hurting yourself, realize you did everything you could, and take a gentler, less judgmental attitude towards yourself.
2. Find a new routine. It's likely bae messed up your day anyway, so take this time to make a new schedule for yourself, and discover the peace that lies here.
3. Detox. Seriously, go on a juice fast and pretend the pounds you're shedding is your relationship. You'll feel and look loads better.

Dating Advice for Libra

Romance and dating can be difficult no matter when you were born or what sign of the zodiac you are. It's a good thing you can consult the zodiac and consider your astrological quirks and romantic tendencies, can improve your dating game tenfold and lead to the relationship you truly desire. Whether you're looking for a soulmate or a hot make-out session, use this guide to realize your romantic potential and start getting what you want in your love life.

Yes, yes, yes...balance and harmony are important dear Libra, but for you, improving your dating life and relationships look like sticking to your guns a bit more. Who are you and what do you want and need from a crush, sweetie, or soulmate? Even though it's easy for your zodiac sign to make your date comfortable and to give them exactly what they desire, it's time you start asking for what you need. In order to do this, you have to get clear with yourself first and not get so absorbed by your crushes and their interests. It's ok to express curiosity towards your crush, Libra, and what they like, but if you're planning a date, make it a goal to figure out what you'd like to do and to lead the way a little. In the long run, this type of forwardness will lead you to a more invigorating and fulfilling romantic life with people who you are actually compatible with.

Have the Relationship You Want, Libra

When it comes to love and romance, we have to know how to play the game just right, and that means we need to know what we are looking for in a romantic relationship, rather than settling for someone or something we really don't want. How much grief could be avoided if we simply tapped into our real needs and desires, and stopped trying to mold or change ourselves to fit someone else's expectations? And how much happier would our prospective and current partners be, if they knew exactly what to expect from us, and what makes us happy?

Is a mental connection more important or an emotional one? These and many more questions and relationship advice can be answered by simply reading on to find out how to get the relationship that we really, really want according to our zodiac personality.

Libra is the zodiac sign of the quintessential lover. You really are the perfect partner – diplomacy, tact and sharing are your strongest traits, and there is nothing you wouldn't do for your relationship. However, it will take quite a few flirts, crushes and passionate hook-ups for you to find "The One" who meets your sometimes higher-than-high expectations. You expect a soulmate, partner, lover, friend, therapist, partner in crime, doctor, and who knows what else all rolled into one, so do go lightly on them, Libra. No one can really be that perfect in real life. Be careful of a partner who doesn't understand your emotions, natural flirtatiousness and desire to be loved by everyone, which can arouse powerful jealousy in the more possessive types.

If you've ever experienced a long-distance relationship, you'll know that it can either make or break you as a couple. Certain signs are more capable of loving and communicating from a distance than others. Here are some tips from the zodiac on how to keep your long-distance lover engaged and happy.

Ruled by Venus, your zodiac sign is all about love and partnership. Your intuitive ability to maintain balance in all aspects of life means you're able to give your relationship the time and attention it needs to flourish. Your intense dislike of confrontation coupled with your desire to keep the peace may prove a problem when it comes to voicing any dissatisfaction with your relationship. You need a long-distance partner who encourages you to speak your truth. Your indecisiveness may create problems in setting up a schedule in order to stay connected; it may even cause you to stay in a relationship that does not bring you joy simply because you can't decide whether you should leave.

Why Libra Fall in Love

It's human nature to relish in that tingling, heart-warming feeling of falling in love; but, did you know that your zodiac sign can greatly influence compatibility and who you fall in love with and what qualities you are most attracted to? Astrology can help you in your quest to find the perfect partner and to have a deeper understanding of why you fall in love.

Soft-hearted and affectionate, Libra seeks a partner who brings harmony and balance to a relationship. Libra, you wear your heart on your sleeve and attract lovers who desire a direct approach to love. Your sign is most impressed by witty conversation and loves to flirt with a sharp mind. For the most well-mannered kid in the room, you need a partner who has the confidence to let you roam free. Your social nature means you crave companionship, but you can take a long time to commit to that special someone. When you fall in love, it will be with a partner who doesn't take advantage of your natural niceness and pushes you towards being more independent and self-aware.

Whatever your style, Astrology can help. Find out how your zodiac sign affects your love, compatibility, and romantic behavior.

You feel most balanced, Libra when you're a member of a partnership. And a good partnership for you is one that's harmonious and peaceful. As an idealist, you covet that picture-perfect relationship, so your best connection is with someone who indulges that dream. In turn, your zodiac sign expresses love by spending all your free time with your lover. Libra, when you're in a compatible match, your partner will be secure enough to get that you're a social butterfly and that you ooze natural charm, and give you the space, knowing that they will always be the center of your world.

Gracious, artistic, and kind, your Libra traits gift you with natural ease in all matters of love. As the peacemaker of the zodiac, your idea of romance prioritizes harmony. Your most compatible relationship will also be pleasingly artistic. Whether it means dressing to the nines for your date at the art museum or sharing a cocktail while gazing at a city skyline, every romantic situation you crave reflects your passion for beauty. While this could make you a bit frivolous, you have a knack for smoothing over even the bumpiest interactions. Stimulating your romantic life means creating experiences that mirror your charming allure, such as attending the ballet, watching a film at the art cinema, or something as simple as having a picnic during golden hour.

For most of you, romance is totally a thing prior to the whole sexual experience. You wanna feel adored and sexy, and your lover needs to take you to town and make you feel like the god or goddess you are. Not that you'll turn down casual sex if you feel like a bit of worshipping. The truth is, Libra, people are always going to wanna do the dirty with you – you've got this whole "touch me, don't touch me" thing going on, and everybody wants a piece of that. Even when you're committed – which is most of the time – you ooze sexiness like an overflowing honeypot, and the bees buzz around like crazy trying to steal a taste. When you do get into the bedroom (an artfully decorated, pretty place – nasty dumpster sex will never fly with you), you want a lover who equally reciprocates all you have to give. You'll please, sure, but you need someone who's going to match what you're giving. If not, you'll (painfully) let go and find someone who deserves all your sexy treats (which includes a lot of lingerie and whipping cream).

Libra, even though you have a tendency to become a workaholic when you feel unhinged, you are often not prepared to put that kind of work into your love relationship. You tend to throw in the towel when things get difficult and can be too quick to move on. As a lover of all things bright and beautiful, you can find it almost impossible to face the ugly side of a love affair. You struggle, Libra, to accept that your love is not perfect, and you will turn your focus to something, or someone, else when you're not happy with your beloved.

This is hard for you, Libra. It's common knowledge how much your astrology sign gives to your romance, and how you thrive on love. It's also confusing as to why this even happened, you were so happy, right? Here are three ways to get the love you want after a painful split:

1. Flirt your face off. This is guaranteed going to make you feel better. Once you see how easy it is to get another lover, you won't nurse your breakup for too long.
2. Revamp your look. Whether this is your wardrobe, your hair, or getting some work done, tending to your appearance will make you feel like a million dollars.
3. Find out "why". You're not scared of that conversation, because, in the end, it'll help you understand how to better do relationships from that point onward.

Dating Advice for Scorpio

Romance and dating can be difficult no matter when you were born or what sign of the zodiac you are. It's a good thing you can consult the zodiac and consider your astrological quirks and romantic tendencies, can improve your dating game tenfold and lead to the relationship you truly desire. Whether you're looking for a soulmate or a hot make-out session, use this guide to realize your romantic potential and start getting what you want in your love life.

Not everything has to be so intense, Scorpio. Your zodiac sign tends to demand a lot from a romantic interest and relationships in general, and this is admirable and sexy in many ways... but for the sake of your sanity, and your crush's sanity, maybe test out turning it down a notch. This doesn't mean that you can't eventually take it there—to that dark, mysterious, and secretive place—but you don't have to know it all on the first date... or the second. On the other hand, maybe you should try disclosing a bit more about yourself instead of trying to figure out everyone else and their motivations. Sometimes dating and learning more about your compatibility just means having fun and getting to know each other. If your romantic life tends to get dramatic quickly, try to give a little more, Scorpio, and expect a little less, and see what happens from there.

Have the Relationship You Want, Scorpio

When it comes to love and romance, we have to know how to play the game just right, and that means we need to know what we are looking for in a romantic relationship, rather than settling for someone or something we really don't want. How much grief could be avoided if we simply tapped into our real needs and desires, and stopped trying to mold or change ourselves to fit someone else's expectations? And how much happier would our prospective and current partners be, if they knew exactly what to expect from us, and what makes us happy?

Sometimes we don't even really know what we want, until we know a little more about ourselves, and our Astrology Sign can give us a great deal of really useful information when it comes to relationships. These and many more questions and relationship advice can be answered by simply reading on to find out how to get the relationship that we really, really want according to our zodiac personality -

Despite what people assume because of your air of mystery and downright unapproachability, Scorpio, you are, in fact, someone who craves a deep love, a searing and emotionally intense, “I will die for you” type of soulmate-love. You don’t give that away in the slightest, do you Scorpio? No – you control it, until you are sure you can trust them, and only then do you dive deeply in. Love means forever for you, and although you can play the dating game as well as anyone, you’d prefer to have one person hold your heart forever. Be ever so careful of that powerful desire to control your lover’s every movement, and to possess every bone in their body. It can make some feel trapped, and sabotage something beautiful.

How to Make a Long-Distance Relationship Work

If you’ve ever experienced a long-distance relationship, you’ll know that it can either make or break you as a couple. Certain signs are more capable of loving and communicating from a distance than others. Here are some tips from the zodiac on how to keep your long-distance lover engaged and happy.

Your natural desire for secrecy and jealous nature doesn’t make you a natural candidate for long-distance love, Scorpio. Your partner may feel worn down by your constant accusations of infidelity or become distrustful of you due to your lack of sharing information. Don’t despair – your inborn intensity and passion will provide the fire and momentum needed to make a long-distance love go all the way. Under the wall of dusky defenses, your true desire is an honest, open relationship. You also have a strong aspiration and ability to prosper, which will serve you well in this type of relationship.

Why Scorpio Falls in Love

It’s human nature to relish in that tingling, heart-warming feeling of falling in love; but, did you know that your zodiac sign can greatly influence compatibility and who you fall in love with and what qualities you are most attracted to? Astrology can help you in your quest to find the perfect partner and to have a deeper understanding of why you fall in love.

Extremely romantic Scorpio, you seek passionate love that will transform your soul. Creative and complicated, deep and sometimes dark, loving a Scorpio is not for the faint-hearted. You value integrity and loyalty and are most compatible with a lover who values the same and accepts your intense, fixed personality, while also being open to a dash of drama. As one of the most erotic signs of the zodiac, you crave intimate sex; you want to merge completely with your beloved – on all levels. Swinging between the pleasure and pain of a dramatic love affair fuels your fire in a relationship. A trait of Scorpio is to be possessive and jealous, so you appreciate a partner who can handle the drama.

What Does a Healthy Relationship Look Like According to Scorpio?

Whatever your style, Astrology can help. Find out how your zodiac sign affects your love, compatibility, and romantic behavior.

Scorpio, you're an astrological water sign that finds intimacy pretty easy, so when you trust your lover completely, you're able to open your heart deep-down and reveal all. When you're part of a secure bond, the passion will be steaming hot. You'll still have the emotional ups and downs that go hand-in-hand with your intense personality, but you'll quickly recover if your partner understands how to ride out the storm. You show your love by doing things for your partner, especially grand romantic gestures. You expect your sweetheart to be one hundred percent invested in your relationship – because, Scorpio, you're either all in, or all out.

Spice Up Your Love Life: Tips for Scorpio

Whether you're at the beginning stages of a romance or in a committed relationship, dating can be fraught with awkward and frustrating experiences. Passion is a fickle flame, one that requires attention and devotion for its survival. Astrology can assist in navigating these difficult moments. By learning more about

Find ways to spice up your love life that are specific to you through this advice.

As a Scorpio Sun, you are intriguing, mysterious, and strong-willed. While you struggle with feelings of jealousy and paranoia, the depth of your passion fosters romantic experiences that lead to profound intimacy. Because of the powerful emotions, you feel in love, you tend to be a bit reserved. For your zodiac sign, finding compatibility in your love life means doing activities that channel your intensity. Some examples of dates could be signing up for a boxing class, going to a museum with exhibits that explore topics in-depth or attending old horror film screenings in your local graveyard. For you, experiences that are a little unnerving are worth investigating.

Oooh la la, now here's a juicy subject we all love! Delicious, scrumptious, sensual, sexy sex! And if your bedroom bonking is none of these things, then you may need to re-think your sexual strategy! Sex should not be boring, tiring, painful or yawn worthy. If it is, perhaps it's time to turn to astrology to help you make it juicier and sweeter....

The stars can be darn useful in helping us navigate our nature, personality traits, likes, dislikes, and even how we like to be kissed. And, astrology can inform us about what kinda sex we go for, whether it's down and dirty, rough and tumble, or soft and sweet. After all, knowledge is power, and all of us could do with a little extra sexual prowess. And wouldn't it be nice to be able to confidently tell your lovers exactly where to go and what to do rather than lying around wondering what the Queen had for lunch while bae is frantically trying to locate your sweet spot? Thought so. Without further ado, let us proceed to explore the nuances and intricacies of our sexual style and preferences according to your zodiac sign.

BDSM? Check. Nightclub bathroom sex? Yes, please. Been there, done that. There's pretty much nowhere you're not willing to go, and the only limit you'll put on your sexual pleasure is adultery. That's not a turn on, but everything else is fair game, Back doors, front doors, side doors – all doors are open on your well-oiled, luscious body, and your ideal lover needs to get over their fear of, well, anything they're afraid of, and bring their sexual A-game to the party. It's going to be scary for them. It's going to be a little cray-cray – okay, a lot. It's going to push boundaries that have never been pushed before (yes, you're really putting it there) and they'll have to get really (really) comfortable with giant toys they don't even know the name of. Visits to the local adult store are your average Saturday afternoon, and Sundays are a day to indulge in your favorite naughty sites together. Bae is going to get an education that they've never dreamed of.

How do you Know Your Relationship is Over, Scorpio?

Do you find yourself wondering why your relationship seems to be such hard work or why perhaps the long-term romance is lost? Maybe you can't even remember the first romantic gestures or emotions of the early times with your lover?

Sometimes, you can be so immersed in the intricacies of your love that you can easily miss the signs of a toxic bond. Similarly, your zodiac sign can greatly influence your behavior and tolerance in a love relationship. Astrology can help explain the emotionally charged feelings within a relationship and our love life in general.

Scorpio, you insist on absolute honesty in your relationship but often are not prepared to give it back. You regularly hide your own true feelings; however, if there's not equal give and take, then it's time to call it quits. If you find yourself getting very emotional and exploding about the small things too often, it's a good sign your relationship is not a healthy one. Luckily, your passionate nature won't let you rest and remain with a lover who doesn't make you happy. If the trust has been broken, there's not much you can do to salvage it – you're not one to forgive and forget.

How to Get Over a Relationship, Scorpio

Breakups are the worst, whether it's your first or your 20th. Even though you think you've got the whole thing figured out after your 20th time, post-breakup there's always something new that arises, whether it's anger, regret, or longing – sometimes all three, altogether.

It's hella hard to move on, even if you've eaten gallons of Ben & Jerry's and binged on Netflix until it comes out of your ears. Perhaps eating ice cream and watching a series is not the best solace for you to get over someone. Perhaps you need something else, but don't know anything else but this "formula". Some people bounce back after a new hairdo, some don't. Some quickly get under someone else or jump headfirst into a new long-term relationship. Others are into ghosting or the flip side of that is online stalking whilst the rest of us have to first grieve and mourn. Who's to say what works?

The zodiac, that's who. Knowing our astrology sign gives us a serious edge when it comes to one of the most stressful life events we can go through, a bad breakup, or not. If we have a list, specifically made for us, we can religiously turn to it, whether we've been blindsided or decided we've had enough.

Read on to explore three tips to bounce back and get ready to open your heart for love and affection again according to your zodiac sign.

Kill them and hide the body, Scorpio. Leave a dead horse's head their bed. Destroy their credit rating so they can never get a loan, buy a house, or travel ever again. If these options fail, here are three tips to help you get over your horrible, heartless, useless ex:

1. Seek revenge. Whatever that means to you, whether it's big or small, make sure they are hurting as much as you.

2. Cut them off. Let them know that they'll never have your loyalty ever again, that they'll never get access to your sexy AF bod no matter how much they beg. They are dead to you.
3. Get sexy with someone else. The physical connection may be just the thing you need to make you feel desirable, powerful, and back in control.

Dating Advice for Sagittarius

Romance and dating can be difficult no matter when you were born or what sign of the zodiac you are. It's a good thing you can consult the zodiac and consider your astrological quirks and romantic tendencies, can improve your dating game tenfold and lead to the relationship you truly desire. Whether you're looking for a soulmate or a hot make-out session, use this guide to realize your romantic potential and start getting what you want in your love life.

Listen Sagittarius, you have a lot to share. You're wise, adventurous, and likely, a talented and engrossing storyteller. There's no denying any of this, and you needn't have to, to improve your dating life and relationships and make your crushes feel a bit more seen and heard. Perhaps show more emotion and try to step back and listen the next time you are out on a romantic escapade. Engage your crush where they're at and start the philosophical conversation from the topic at hand rather than out of thin air. As a Fire sign, you can be an inspiring and uplifting presence, but just make sure that you're not taking up too much space. If you can learn from your crush and share your wisdom, rather than preach it, you'll be able to connect on the deep and profound level that you long for.

Have the Relationship You Want, Sagittarius

When it comes to love and romance, we have to know how to play the game just right, and that means we need to know what we are looking for in a romantic relationship, rather than settling for someone or something we really don't want. How much grief could be avoided if we simply tapped into our real needs and desires, and stopped trying to mold or change ourselves to fit someone else's expectations? And how much happier would our prospective and current partners be, if they knew exactly what to expect from us, and what makes us happy?

Sometimes we don't even really know what we want, until we know a little more about ourselves, and our Astrology Sign can give us a great deal of really useful information when it comes to relationships. Are we more about the chase, or looking for security? Do we run from commitment or lean into it comfortably? Is a mental connection more important or an emotional one? These and many more questions and relationship advice can be answered by simply reading on to find out how to get the relationship that we really, really want according to our zodiac personality –

When it comes to compatibility in love, Sagittarius, you prefer a sort of loose agreement, a kind of “I’ll see you when I see you, maybe after I come back from trekking in Kathmandu” kind of romance. For you, love means utter freedom and a partner who can share that trait is the one you will call soulmate. You’re great at dating and have plenty of emotion and passion to share – yet romantic commitment is not really your strongest trait, is it? As long as you can find someone who isn’t too insecure and won’t cling onto you as you pack your bags for yet another outback tour, you’ll be just fine in the romance department, Beware of your fickle heart, however, Sagittarius. It can end a really good thing.

How to Make a Long-Distance Relationship Work

If you’ve ever experienced a long-distance relationship, you’ll know that it can either make or break you as a couple. Certain signs are more capable of loving and communicating from a distance than others. Here are some tips from the zodiac on how to keep your long-distance lover engaged and happy.

The idea of a long-distance love affair may spark your zodiac sign's inherent sense of adventure. Plus, you get to travel, which excites your soul. If you’re a Sagittarius who’s cautious to commit, you will actually enjoy the space a long-distance relationship affords you. You’re optimistic and carefree, which means you won’t take the inevitable petty arguments that occur in a long-distance relationship too seriously. It also means you need a sweetheart who is equally open-hearted and shares your bold spirit. Sometimes, you can be a little tactless, so watch what you say to your beloved.

Why Sagittarius Fall in Love

It's human nature to relish in that tingling, heart-warming feeling of falling in love; but, did you know that your zodiac sign can greatly influence compatibility and who you fall in love with and what qualities you are most attracted to? Astrology can help you in your quest to find the perfect partner and to have a deeper understanding of why you fall in love.

Fun-loving and affectionate, Sagittarius is best suited to an equally gregarious compatible mate who is up for a little adventure. Your exuberant nature and great lust for life mean you require a partner who revels in the joy of life too. You tend to get restless in love, so you do well with a lover who keeps you interested with fresh ideas and new experiences. You're a free spirit who hates feeling trapped by another person or situation, so until you find the right one, you may prefer to be single. At the same time, Sagittarius, you crave a soulmate to journey with you.

What Does a Healthy Relationship Look Like According to Sagittarius?

We all have different ways of showing our love. Some prefer to shower their lovers with affection and gifts, and others express their love through acts of service and whispering sweet nothings. Whatever your style, Astrology can help. Find out how your zodiac sign affects your love, compatibility, and romantic behavior.

Exuberant and adventurous, Sagittarius is one of the most positive personalities of the zodiac. The best relationship for you is with a partner who embraces your fierce independence and who is also able to sustain the same levels of upbeat energy. When your optimistic fire sign outlook is encouraged, your desire to connect with your sweetheart intensifies. You like to share your experience of the world with the one you love, and you're happiest in an exciting, vibrant relationship full of new activities. Sagittarius, you show your love by trying to make your partner laugh and through actions, rather than words.

Spice Up Your Love Life: Tips for Sagittarius

Whether you're at the beginning stages of a romance or in a committed relationship, dating can be fraught with awkward and frustrating experiences. Passion is a fickle flame, one that requires attention and devotion for its survival. Astrology can assist in navigating these difficult moments. By learning more about your Sun sign, you gain insight into what makes you tick, what excites and thrills you, and what emboldens your flirtations. Knowing your partner's zodiac sign, whether it's a crush or your soulmate, gives you an advantage in understanding how they express love and how they want to receive it. Knowing what you both want is the key to compatibility. The zodiac is the ultimate matchmaker, as it harmonizes the traits and personalities of 12 unique energies. Find ways to spice up your love life that are specific to you through this advice.

Idealistic, philosophical, and outspoken, your Sagittarius personality seeks a romance that expands your horizons. At times, your zodiac sign struggles with restlessness and this can diminish your interest in romantic pursuits. You're most open to love when it's paired with the unexpected. You don't have to go far to find adventure: it could be a date at a park you've never been to or a concert venue you've been dying to visit. It could even be the hole-in-the-wall bistro that you and your crush discover after a day of roaming the streets of the town. All you need to do is follow the arc of Cupid's arrow for your next adventure.

Thought so. Without further ado, let us proceed to explore the nuances and intricacies of our sexual style and preferences according to your zodiac sign.

Your sign of the zodiac is quite well-known for your more-than-crazy, spontaneous, and fiery sex drive, Sagittarius. Hook-ups, dates, and committed partners alike know that the moment sex gets boring or happens rarely is the moment you swipe a permanent left on their ass. Speaking of all body parts are fair play – with play being the operative word here. If sex becomes too serious, tender (yuk), sweet (puke), or emotional (now you're running), bae will be counting the (few) days left with you, perhaps even hours. Sagittarius-style sex is fun, playful, hot, and quick. And frequent. Very frequent. Outdoor sex is a must, sex on a plane – best ever – and sex with a few others is totally up your alley. Why should you be possessive anyway? It's just sex, after all. Your sweetie will need to get a little used to that, but as soon as they realize how much fun and freedom you're willing to give, is the day they realize they've struck sexual gold.

How do you Know Your Relationship is Over, Sagittarius?

influence your behavior and tolerance in a love relationship. Astrology can help explain the emotionally charged feelings within a relationship and our love life in general.

Sagittarius, a good sign that you're in a toxic relationship is when your usual sunny self becomes negative and overly serious. You're a fundamentally positive person, so when faced with a discouraging lover or situation, it completely throws you off course. Your Sun sign has a tendency to express your anger inappropriately, which can confuse your beloved and impact negatively on your relationship. Until you find the right person, your need for freedom may be a stronger force than your need to bond with another, which can be painful for your partner. A toxic relationship will completely dull your sparkle, Sagittarius.

What relationship? Just kidding Sagittarius. No seriously, if you have had a breakup, you're probably relieved. Now you can be free again and have fun. If you happen to have a bad day, here are three tips to get over it:

1. Go traveling. This one is obvious, right? Whether it's a trip up the coast or a pilgrimage to India, make it happen. You'll forget bae ever existed.
2. Go partying. Grab that bottle of tequila and share it with your friends at a festival, whether you're 21 or 80. There's nothing like having fun to help you move on.
3. Be philosophical about it. Maybe it just wasn't meant to be. Maybe you were too honest, maybe you just weren't spiritually compatible. It's totally okay.

Dating Advice for Capricorn

It's a good thing you can consult the zodiac and consider your astrological quirks and romantic tendencies, can improve your dating game tenfold and lead to the relationship you truly desire. Whether you're looking for a soulmate or a hot make-out session, use this guide to realize your romantic potential and start getting what you want in your love life.

Earth sign Capricorn is known for being responsible, hardworking, and reliable. These are good qualities in a potential spouse, but they don't always lend themselves to being the most fun or inspiring date. The important thing to remember is to try to loosen up a little, Capricorn, show some emotion, and let go of your desire to measure or quantify everything. Sometimes you won't know what something is worth until after you do it. Even if you don't end up committing to a long-term relationship with a crush, you still might gain a lot from those couple dates where you really let yourself go. Catch yourself if you start getting too practical too soon and let yourself enjoy the pure and unencumbered energy and potential compatibility of a first date. You are more than your resume, and so is your crush. If you can let it be so, you might be surprised by what you or your date has to offer.

Oh Capricorn. Cool and reserved are you in love, although your tender heart longs for someone to make you feel really good about yourself and your amazing achievements. Letting down that reserve will allow for a little more fun, playfulness and romance in your life – you don't have to be serious all the time, you know. Compatibility for you means shared good taste, as well as a partner who is as much of a hard worker as you are. Status is sexy, and you'll need to find a partner who shares your ambitions. Commitment is the name of the game here, so as much as you may pretend to be "casual", Capricorn, you're really just searching for something more solid.

Certain signs are more capable of loving and communicating from a distance than others. Here are some tips from the zodiac on how to keep your long-distance lover engaged and happy.

Supportive and serious, you will always be there for your partner, Capricorn, even if he or she is miles away. Since planning and preparing are important to you, you need to have clear parameters for the relationship in order to feel secure; you need to know what the end goal is. Your zodiac sign's ambitious nature will work in your favor in a long-distance love as you'll do everything you can to make it work; however, your sometimes over-practical nature may put a damper on the romance aspect. You need a love match who understands that actions speak louder than words.

Astrology can help you in your quest to find the perfect partner and to have a deeper understanding of why you fall in love.

Your realistic, practical nature means you like to follow the rules in love, dating, and compatibility. Once you fall in love, you are totally focused on your partner and quick to commit. Capricorns are not afraid of conflict in a love relationship and are ready to put in the work if needed. A good date for a Capricorn is a classy date, complete with charm, good wine, and a well-dressed partner. Capricorns relish the build-up to intimacy, flirty messages and languorous love sessions appeal. Your ideal mate will occasionally take charge, giving you a break from playing leader while simultaneously allowing you to feel cared for.

Capricorn, you pride yourself on your self-control and commitment, especially when it comes to things that are dear to your heart. If you truly love your partner, your earth sign is beyond dedicated and will do whatever it takes to make your relationship succeed. Your sometimes overly serious nature is most content in a love compatibility match with a partner who lightens you up. Capricorn is so self-sufficient and independent, so you'll only completely open up when you're sure of your lover's commitment. You know you're in love when you start sharing your thoughts and feelings with your beloved.

You're disciplined, responsible, and tenacious in love. While not always the most enthusiastic zodiac sign, your ability to be realistic makes you a dependable mate.

You flirt with purpose, securing the devotion of a partner who helps you make your dreams come true. You prefer to love through acts of service, whether that means reminding your partner to take their vitamins or making sure your honeymoon flight and hotel bookings are fool proof. Dates that involve mutual self-improvement such as exercising, attending a money-management course, or planning a romantic evening out on the town are bound to excite and delight your Capricorn sensibilities.

Like all earth signs, you have a sensual and juicy libido just waiting to be unlocked by the right partner. And, like all earth zodiac signs, you keep it between you and your lover, not between you and the rest of the world, unless you're feeling particularly insecure or going through a phase. Weirdly, sex within marriage totally turns you on, and there's nothing quite as kinky as calling out your honey's title during a particularly sexy session. The best sex, with you, takes time and trust, and you may take a while to open up and let the walls down – sex without vulnerability can be common for your sign until you really are sure that this person is your sweetie for life. Then, you're pretty much like the proverbial horny goat symbolized by your sign. Also – power games. The ones where you get to be in control. Those encounters in the boardroom for a “disciplinary hearing” – ooh baby! That, Capricorn, is an aphrodisiac that you may find yourself coming back to, again and again.

How do you Know Your Relationship is Over, Capricorn?

Similarly, your zodiac sign can greatly influence your behavior and tolerance in a love relationship. Astrology can help explain the emotionally charged feelings within a relationship and our love life in general.

Capricorn, your high expectations, morals, and sense of responsibility towards others means you simply don't tolerate laziness in a person or a relationship. You are quite repulsed by apathy of all kinds. You also don't welcome a partner who's impulsive or reckless, especially with your heart. If you find yourself becoming cold and uncommunicative towards your lover, then you should know that deep down you are not in a healthy relationship, nor are you happy. This dissatisfaction will bring out your overly controlling side and, Capricorn, being the fixer that you are, you will start trying too hard to make things right.

For you, this is more like a divorce, since you were so completely committed, Capricorn. Your zodiac sign is well known for how steadfast and loyal you are, so this may shake you at your foundations. Here are three ways to move on and find new love:

1. Work. Just work. Spend 99% of your time at the office or maybe even start a new business. You'll be so distracted that bae will drift away to the back of your mind as you focus on business.
2. Detach. No one does it as well as you do, so simply untether yourself emotionally and nurse the hurt alone, working through it all in your own time.
3. Learn. Your astrology sign is wise, Capricorn, so learn from this, and don't let it stop you from being vulnerable again.

Why Capricorn Falls in Love

It's human nature to relish in that tingling, heart-warming feeling of falling in love; but, did you know that your zodiac sign can greatly influence compatibility and who you fall in love with and what qualities you are most attracted to? Astrology can help you in your quest to find the perfect partner and to have a deeper understanding of why you fall in love.

Your realistic, practical nature means you like to follow the rules in love, dating, and compatibility. Once you fall in love, you are totally focused on your partner and quick to commit. Capricorns are not afraid of conflict in a love relationship and are ready to put in the work if needed. A good date for a Capricorn is a classy date, complete with charm, good wine, and a well-dressed partner. Capricorns relish the build-up to intimacy, flirty messages and languorous love sessions appeal. Your ideal mate will occasionally take charge, giving you a break from playing leader while simultaneously allowing you to feel cared for.

What Does a Healthy Relationship Look Like According to Capricorn?

We all have different ways of showing our love. Some prefer to shower their lovers with affection and gifts, and others express their love through acts of service and whispering sweet nothings. Whatever your style, Astrology can help. Find out how your zodiac sign affects your love, compatibility, and romantic behavior.

Capricorn, you pride yourself on your self-control and commitment, especially when it comes to things that are dear to your heart. If you truly love your partner, your earth sign is beyond dedicated and will do whatever it takes to make your relationship succeed. Your sometimes overly serious nature is most content in a love compatibility match with a partner who lightens you up. Capricorn is so self-sufficient and independent, so you'll only completely open up when you're sure of your lover's commitment. You know you're in love when you start sharing your thoughts and feelings with your beloved.

Spice Up Your Love Life: Tips for Capricorn

Whether you're at the beginning stages of a romance or in a committed relationship, dating can be fraught with awkward and frustrating experiences. Passion is a fickle flame, one that requires attention and devotion for its survival. Astrology can assist in navigating these difficult moments. By learning more about your Sun sign, you gain insight into what makes you tick, what excites and thrills you, and what emboldens your flirtations. Knowing your partner's zodiac sign, whether it's a crush or your soulmate, gives you an advantage in understanding how they express love and how they want to receive it. Knowing what you both want is the key to compatibility. The zodiac is the ultimate matchmaker, as it harmonizes the traits and personalities of 12 unique energies. Find ways to spice up your love life that are specific to you through this advice.

You're disciplined, responsible, and tenacious in love. While not always the most enthusiastic zodiac sign, your ability to be realistic makes you a dependable mate. You flirt with purpose, securing the devotion of a partner who helps you make your dreams come true. You prefer to love through acts of service, whether that means reminding your partner to take their vitamins or making sure your honeymoon flight and hotel bookings are fool proof. Dates that involve mutual self-improvement such as exercising, attending a money-management course, or planning a romantic evening out on the town are bound to excite and delight your Capricorn sensibilities.

Surprising Zodiac Sex Secrets for Capricorn

Oooh la la, now here's a juicy subject we all love! Delicious, scrumptious, sensual, sexy sex! And if your bedroom bonking is none of these things, then you may need to re-think your sexual strategy! Sex should not be boring, tiring, painful or yawn worthy. If it is, perhaps it's time to turn to astrology to help you make it juicier and sweeter....

The stars can be darn useful in helping us navigate our nature, personality traits, likes, dislikes, and even how we like to be kissed. And, astrology can inform us about what kinda sex we go for, whether it's down and dirty, rough and tumble, or soft and sweet. After all, knowledge is power, and all of us could do with a little extra sexual prowess. And wouldn't it be nice to be able to confidently tell your lovers exactly where to go and what to do rather than lying around wondering what the Queen had for lunch while bae is frantically trying to locate your sweet spot? Thought so. Without further ado, let us proceed to explore the nuances and intricacies of our sexual style and preferences according to your zodiac sign.

Like all earth signs, you have a sensual and juicy libido just waiting to be unlocked by the right partner. And, like all earth zodiac signs, you keep it between you and your lover, not between you and the rest of the world, unless you're feeling particularly insecure or going through a phase. Weirdly, sex within marriage totally turns you on, and there's nothing quite as kinky as calling out your honey's title during a particularly sexy session. The best sex, with you, takes time and trust, and you may take a while to open up and let the walls down – sex without vulnerability can be common for your sign until you really are sure that this person is your sweetie for life. Then, you're pretty much like the proverbial horny goat symbolized by your sign. Also – power games. The ones where you get to be in control. Those encounters in the boardroom for a “disciplinary hearing” – ooh baby! That, Capricorn, is an aphrodisiac that you may find yourself coming back to, again and again.

How do you Know Your Relationship is Over, Capricorn?

Do you find yourself wondering why your relationship seems to be such hard work or why perhaps the long-term romance is lost? Maybe you can't even remember the first romantic gestures or emotions of the early times with your lover?

Sometimes, you can be so immersed in the intricacies of your love that you can easily miss the signs of a toxic bond. Similarly, your zodiac sign can greatly influence your behavior and tolerance in a love relationship. Astrology can help explain the emotionally charged feelings within a relationship and our love life in general.

Capricorn, your high expectations, morals, and sense of responsibility towards others means you simply don't tolerate laziness in a person or a relationship. You are quite repulsed by apathy of all kinds. You also don't welcome a partner who's impulsive or reckless, especially with your heart. If you find yourself becoming cold and uncommunicative towards your lover, then you should know that deep down you are not in a healthy relationship, nor are you happy. This dissatisfaction will bring out your overly controlling side and, Capricorn, being the fixer that you are, you will start trying too hard to make things right.

How to Get Over a Relationship, Capricorn

Breakups are the worst, whether it's your first or your 20th. Even though you think you've got the whole thing figured out after your 20th time, post-breakup there's always something new that arises, whether it's anger, regret, or longing – sometimes all three, altogether.

It's hella hard to move on, even if you've eaten gallons of Ben & Jerry's and binged on Netflix until it comes out of your ears. Perhaps eating ice cream and watching a series is not the best solace for you to get over someone. Perhaps you need something else, but don't know anything else but this "formula". Some people bounce back after a new hairdo, some don't. Some quickly get under someone else or jump headfirst into a new long-term relationship. Others are into ghosting or the flip side of that is online stalking whilst the rest of us have to first grieve and mourn. Who's to say what works?

The zodiac, that's who. Knowing our astrology sign gives us a serious edge when it comes to one of the most stressful life events we can go through, a bad breakup, or not. If we have a list, specifically made for us, we can religiously turn to it, whether we've been blindsided or decided we've had enough.

Read on to explore three tips to bounce back and get ready to open your heart for love and affection again according to your zodiac sign.

For you, this is more like a divorce, since you were so completely committed, Capricorn. Your zodiac sign is well known for how steadfast and loyal you are, so this may shake you at your foundations. Here are three ways to move on and find new love:

1. Work. Just work. Spend 99% of your time at the office or maybe even start a new business. You'll be so distracted that bae will drift away to the back of your mind as you focus on business.
2. Detach. No one does it as well as you do, so simply untether yourself emotionally and nurse the hurt alone, working through it all in your own time.
3. Learn. Your astrology sign is wise, Capricorn, so learn from this, and don't let it stop you from being vulnerable again.

Dating Advice for Aquarius

Romance and dating can be difficult no matter when you were born or what sign of the zodiac you are. It's a good thing you can consult the zodiac and consider your astrological quirks and romantic tendencies, can improve your dating game tenfold and lead to the relationship you truly desire. Whether you're looking for a soulmate or a hot make-out session, use this guide to realize your romantic potential and start getting what you want in your love life.

How are you feeling about your dating life and relationships in general, Aquarius? Are you invested or a little detached? Perhaps it's time you begin to consider the value of romance and love in your life, and this means putting a little more care in places that may be long neglected. Friends are great, but sometimes you need the touch, intimacy, and nourishment of a loved one. If you can admit this to yourself (and you are open-minded) you'll start to find the intimacy your heart longs for. This will mean stepping outside of your mind and into your body and as an Air sign, this may be a little challenging. What does your body want and need? How is your heart? Make yourself emotionally available, Aquarius put yourself out there, and let yourself be vulnerable. These three steps are sure to lead your zodiac sign to new horizons of love and in turn, a more rewarding romantic life.

Have the Relationship You Want, Aquarius

When it comes to love and romance, we have to know how to play the game just right, and that means we need to know what we are looking for in a romantic relationship, rather than settling for someone or something we really don't want. How much grief could be avoided if we simply tapped into our real needs and desires, and stopped trying to mold or change ourselves to fit someone else's expectations? And how much happier would our prospective and current partners be, if they knew exactly what to expect from us, and what makes us happy?

Sometimes we don't even really know what we want, until we know a little more about ourselves, and our Astrology Sign can give us a great deal of really useful information when it comes to relationships. Are we more about the chase, or looking for security? Do we run from commitment or lean into it comfortably? Is a mental connection more important or an emotional one? These and many more questions and relationship advice can be answered by simply reading on to find out how to get the relationship that we really, really want according to our zodiac personality -

It'll take quite a lot for you Aquarian space cadets to realize that friendship has suddenly morphed into love. What was a casual coffee date to talk about aliens and astrology has now developed into all these...feelings. Scary, we know, but honestly, your biggest love will be your best friend. And contrary to what other people think, romantic commitment is one of your strongest traits. As long as your lover lets you be free to do your weird thing, you'll be theirs for life. Just don't let that free-spirited detachment cool the passion in your relationships, as you may find yourself unexpectedly on your own.

How to Make a Long-Distance Relationship Work

If you've ever experienced a long-distance relationship, you'll know that it can either make or break you as a couple. Certain signs are more capable of loving and communicating from a distance than others. Here are some tips from the zodiac on how to keep your long-distance lover engaged and happy.

Always independent, Aquarius, you are not fazed by the loneliness of long-distance love. Your zodiac sign enjoys the freedom and will quickly fill up your time with friends and activities. You are an excellent communicator and feel intrinsically connected to humanity; however, you sometimes struggle with real intimacy in one-on-one relationships, and this guardedness could impact negatively on long-distance love. You are best suited to a lover who has great patience as you need time to reveal your innermost thoughts and feelings. Your far-flung sweetheart will surely appreciate your altruistic desire to please others before yourself.

Why Aquarius Falls in Love

It's human nature to relish in that tingling, heart-warming feeling of falling in love; but, did you know that your zodiac sign can greatly influence compatibility and who you fall in love with and what qualities you are most attracted to? Astrology can help you in your quest to find the perfect partner and to have a deeper understanding of why you fall in love.

Aquarius, you are an Air sign so can be unemotional and unconventional when it comes to falling in love. You desire both intimacy and independence and can struggle to find a sweetheart who understands this dichotomy. You are content with casual love affairs until you really fall for that special someone and fulfill that secret desire you have for a deep emotional connection. Your unpredictable and free-spirited demeanor attracts partners who thrive on this uncertain energy. You are one of the most sexually uninhibited of the zodiac signs and your ideal mate is someone willing to experiment. Your eccentric nature attracts lovers who enjoy peeling the layers to get the real core of who you are.

We all have different ways of showing our love. Some prefer to shower their lovers with affection and gifts, and others express their love through acts of service and whispering sweet nothings. Whatever your style, Astrology can help. Find out how your zodiac sign affects your love, compatibility, and romantic behavior.

A loved-up Aquarius will shower their sweetheart with love. You like to go over the top to demonstrate your feelings and will spoil your lover rotten. Deeply romantic, your creativity knows no bounds when you're happy in love. You're a unique soul and when in a committed love affair or relationship, you show your love in unconventional ways. Aquarius, you won't be the first to say, "I love you," but you'll show it in other ways, most significantly, by making space in your life for your significant other. You not only shower your lover with gifts and treats but with compliments and adoration too.

Your dating life is as unconventional and rebellious as you are. As an Aquarius Sun, you prefer relationships that satisfy your unique, intellectual, and visionary personality. While a bit erratic and eccentric, your approach to love reflects your individualistic approach to life. Some may call you quirky, but you're more concerned with being true to yourself than with following expectations. The perfect date changes depending on your whims, but some good ones could involve volunteering for a humanitarian cause, watching a documentary about space, or taking an impulsive day trip to a nature reserve. Even debating with your crush about philosophy and technology is bound to electrify your romantic passion.

Bae better be into alien sex. Or sex with your friends and you. Or sex with a robot while you watch. Virtual sex, online sex, and text sex – this is what your zodiac sign is into. Truth be told, you really just wanted to be friends, and now this whole sex thing just seems complicated and kinda messy. Body fluids are really not your thing, which is why robots and computers just seem so, well, convenient. But, if your lover can deftly engage your brilliant mind and make you think sexy things, your body will follow and what may happen is some of the most interesting and experimental sex they're ever had. It won't be tender and emotional, but it will be a lot of fun and you'll still be able to be their best friend afterward. Wait, so you weren't dating? Do they know that? This may be a good time to let them know that swinging was invented by an Aquarius and that an open relationship is the way that the world is going. Progress, baby.

Similarly, your zodiac sign can greatly influence your behavior and tolerance in a love relationship. Astrology can help explain the emotionally charged feelings within a relationship and our love life in general.

The first sign of an Aquarius who is miserable in love is avoidance. If you're displeased in your romantic relationship, you will slowly start to have less and less time for your beloved. It's your way of phasing the person out. You naturally prefer to be free of obligations and restrictions on your life, but in a toxic relationship, this becomes heightened. In fact, your greatest cause of unhappiness, Aquarius, is being controlled. You clash with rigid, overly practical personalities, and you will find yourself becoming introverted and withdrawn if you're in a toxic match.

Even though most people think you're all free-spirited and can totally move on and are so completely detached, on some level you're salty, Aquarius – why? Because you were best friends. And best friends don't just break up. Here are three ways to make sense of this:

1. Convert them from your bae to your actual bestie. Don't let go of the relationship if it could have value as a friendship. Perhaps the romance is over, but maybe the friendship has just begun.
2. Communicate. Talk about why this happened, so you can put it to rest and move on.
3. Hang out with mates. Your friends have got you, Aquarius. Spend time being part of your group, especially if you haven't seen them in a while. It's a balm for your soul.

Dating Advice for Pisces

Romance and dating can be difficult no matter when you were born or what sign of the zodiac you are. It's a good thing you can consult the zodiac and consider your astrological quirks and romantic tendencies, can improve your dating game tenfold and lead to the relationship you truly desire. Whether you're looking for a soulmate or a hot make-out session, use this guide to realize your romantic potential and start getting what you want in your love life.

It's time you start protecting your heart, sweet Pisces. You are easily injured, taken advantage of, and used when it comes to dating and even other people and it could be taking a toll on other aspects of your life. It's important for someone who feels as deeply as you do and who oftentimes tends to wear rose-colored glasses to protect yourself when it comes to your relationships. Do a little reading about boundaries and self-care and start approaching romance and intimacy with a bit more intention. Being in perpetual heartbreak is exhausting for your zodiac sign, and not everyone deserves all your love, care, and attention. Choose wisely when it comes to crushes, and don't let yourself be charmed by every smooth talker that walks into the bar. Those who are worthy of your love will respect the boundaries you set, and if you can let them be known early on, you'll be able to weed out the emotional vampires from the deep feelers and in turn, reclaim your heart and your love life to experience the relationship you truly deserve.

Pisces, you are a contradiction. On one hand, you yearn to merge wholeheartedly with your soulmate (they're all soulmates in the end, as you know), and on the other, if there's no escape, you'll feel suffocated and avoid the whole confusing situation. Should I stay or should I go? That is sometimes your song, Pisces, so be ever so careful of sabotaging your relationships with indecision and an avoidance to confrontation. Other than that, you are the perfect lover. Empathetic, sweet and ever supportive, you will sacrifice your life for your love and for you, passion is par for the course. Compatibility means a partner who will take care of you and flow with your feelings, no matter how much they change.

If you've ever experienced a long-distance relationship, you'll know that it can either make or break you as a couple. Certain signs are more capable of loving and communicating from a distance than others. Here are some tips from the zodiac on how to keep your long-distance lover engaged and happy.

Pisces love to fantasize about anything and everything, especially love, so much of your time in a long-distance relationship will be spent in loving dreamland. The time apart will give you the opportunity to release your romantic creativity in other ways. Pisces, your idealism makes you a perfect long-distance partner; however, when problems arise, you may try to avoid resolving them. Your remote sweetheart will have to be willing to gently coax you into communication. You will need to speak up if you want to have a lasting relationship. Ultimately, that caring and compassionate heart will shine through most problems that arise in your long-distance love match.

Why Pisces Falls in Love

It's human nature to relish in that tingling, heart-warming feeling of falling in love; but, did you know that your zodiac sign can greatly influence compatibility and who you fall in love with and what qualities you are most attracted to? Astrology can help you in your quest to find the perfect partner and to have a deeper understanding of why you fall in love.

Sweet and sensual Pisces you reveal your feelings through acts of love. With your ethereal, intuitive nature you are attracted to partners who ground you – often earth signs are your best compatible match. You sometimes struggle to articulate your feelings, so your ultimate sweetheart will be someone who intuitively understands you and who you connect with spiritually. You fluctuate between fantasy and reality and require a partner who's both safe yet allows you that freedom you so crave. Your innate compassion, Pisces, causes you to often fall for dark souls you desperately want to help. Your ideal lover won't take advantage of this vulnerability.

You know those memes that tell you where the sign likes to do it? Those memes that are utter rubbish? Well, they got this one right with your zodiac sign. You really do like it in the water, Pisces, under the light of a Full Moon, whilst on mushrooms, weed, and LSD as you merge souls with your one and only true love. This is the true art of Tantra, and sex in this way becomes something quite mystical and potentially somewhat messy as you come down and realize that this was not your one true love, but a really good-looking, dreadlocked hippy just passing through. No matter, you'll soon find someone else to sexually transport yourself to the divine with, someone who knows that sex is the gateway to the spiritual. It's gotta be sweet. It's gotta be addictive. It's gotta be loving.

Pisces, you're the astrological sign of the zodiac who wears the rose-colored glasses and has the most instinctive tendency to give out far more than you receive. In an unequal love match, a lover will take advantage of this and completely drain you. You're also an unhealthy communicator, which means rather than address the issues you have with your sweetheart, you'll avoid conflict at all costs – even though when your feelings are not considered, it hurts your heart most profoundly. When you've completely checked out from your partner and disengaged from all romance, emotion, and intimacy, you'll have a sudden desire to be free, and that's a sure sign it's over.

Honestly, this is terrible for you, Pisces, and some days it may seem as if you will never stop crying. But, you will – your zodiac sign has the ability to move on much faster from this hard time than you think. Here are three ways to help you get there:

1. Escape from it. However, make them healthy escapes, Pisces. Nature is a good one to disconnect from the hurt and reconnect to something bigger than you. Go dancing. Swim in the ocean. Watch a fantasy series. Read a good book. The list is endless.
2. Do Yoga. You're spiritual AF and maybe you haven't realized it yet. Get on your mat already!
3. Listen to music. Melt away into the tunes and allow your emotions to be expressed in all the sad love songs you can imagine. Soon, you'll be dreaming of your new bae.
